Bellevue Will Celebrate Labor Day

Horticultural and Industrial Club Exhibition Will Be Big Attraction.

Bellevue promises a big day for the citizens of The Pines on Monday next, when the Horticultural and Industrial Club will conduct their first annual exhibition. We understand that over three hundred entries have been made and judging from the efforts of the competitors during the season, many surprises are in store for spectators.

The exhibits will be made in the rooms of the public school, which have been granted for the purpose. All exhibits will be on hand at 9 a.m., when they will be examined by Mr. Oxley, of the agricultural and horticultural department of the Calgary Canadian, whose decisions will be final in all cases. Mrs. Oxley will be on hand to judge for the women's section. Orchestras will be on hand during the day and excellent music will be furnished.

A sports programme will also be carried out, commencing at 10 a.m., some of the chief items being Boys' and Girls' Races, 4 to 6, 6 to 8, 8 to 10, 10 to 12, 12 to 14, and 14 to 16 years; Girls' Race, confined to members of the Bellevue Boys' Basketball Club; Handicap Sack Race; Boys' Wheelbarrow Race; Egg and Spoon Race (open); Bicycle Race (open); Obstacle Race (open); Girls' Three-Legged Race; Men's Race (open); Ladies' Race (open); Running Skipping Race; Skipping Contest; Married Men's Race; Old Men's Race; Club Race (open to members of Club); Cracker Race.

A basket ball game between Blairmore and Bell-vue girls' teams will be played at 7.30 p.m.

A football match will also be staged, the following line-up having issued a challenge to all-comers from Blairmore:

Goal—James Lindsay.

Backs—Jim Cardie and M. Walker.

Half-Backs—George McKean, Harry Jepson, Walter Miller.

Forwards—T. Dugdale, R. Dugdale, William Kerr, Bob Kerr, with J. Radford centre.

A grand dance will be given in the Workers' Hall, under the auspices of the Bellevue Branch of the Red Cross Society, commencing at 9 p.m. Special music has been arranged for.

At 2 p.m. a public meeting will be held by the Bohemian National Alliance at the Workers' Hall, in celebration of recognition of the Czech-Slovaks by the British, French and Italian governments. Several addresses will be given by prominent speakers.

Up-to-Date Hospital

Accommodation at Coleman

The two Coleman Hotels have been equipped with a view to giving their members up-to-date hospital accommodation. The hospital board has been busy for the last two months on reconstruction work.

They are building a new addition which is two stories high, plastered throughout, with a floor space of 35x32 ft. and one of the finest heating and plumbing installations which can be had in Canada.

The old hospital has the same floor space, which gives them space over all of 70x32 and gives the city of Coleman a first-class institution. The old building consists of one operating room, one private ward, one large public ward, nurses room, bath room and lavatory.

The new addition has one private ward, one large ward the length of the building, dining room, kitchen, pantry, bathroom and lavatory. Upstairs there are four rooms with every convenience, likewise a bathroom and lavatory.

The new addition is costing approximately seven or eight thousand dollars, which the miners of Coleman agree to meet by being assessed, and thereby Coleman will benefit to the extent of being able to say that they have the finest institution of its kind in the District. —Coleman Correspondent to District Ledger.

We are asked by the commandant of Military District 13, Calgary, to announce that applications for enlistment in the Siberian Expeditionary Force being formed in this district are being received by Lieut. Hardisty, at Sarscoe Camp. Applicants must be A-2. Preference will be given to men who have had overseas experience. Infantry can be enlisted at once. Applications will also be received for men for the artillery, engineers, signallers, qualified machine-gun men, army medical corps and army service corps. These, however, will have to be forwarded to Ottawa through district headquarters, and will take some time to get a definite ruling on. Applicants should apply in person to Lieut. Hardisty, who will have them medically examined.

The little nineteen-month-old child of John Salt, of Hillcrest, died last night at 9 o'clock, as a result of an overdose of fruitatives. It appears that the little one got hold of a box of fruitatives and before being discovered by the parents had swallowed a considerable quantity. Dr. Ross was summoned, but the child died about two hours afterwards from poison. Coroner Pinkney was summoned, but an inquest was not considered necessary. Interment will take place at the Hillcrest cemetery tomorrow afternoon.

It is reported that in Germany several thousand women—selected for their youth, energy and attractiveness—are learning the Russian language. Their tutors are Russian prisoners, who are compelled to give lessons. These students are intended to pursue, after the war, the occupation of travelling saleswomen to the Russian markets.

A man who claims to know whereof he speaks, says that at the internment camp at Vernon the prisoners and troops, some 600 in all, are fed beef until they are almost sick of it. This is hard to understand in the face of the fact that the government is urging so strongly the use of fish, remarks the Princeton Star.

The War Cost

The cost of the war to all nations up to date, including the loss by destruction in Europe is $140,000,000,000. This equals the entire value of all the real and personal property of the United States. The total amount borrowed by the countries of the Entente Allies is 50 billions, while Germany has borrowed 25 billions, and the Teutonic Allies as a whole about 35 billions.

About 25 billion has been raised by direct taxation in the Entente nations and about one-fifth this amount in Germany. The latter country did not increase taxes at all the first year of the war, holding out the hope of indemnity to her people, which decision accounts in large part for the esprit du corps of the German nation the first two years of the war. Now the taxes in Germany are beginning to bear down heavily on all industries.

The loss of property in Northern France in the last four years is not as great as might be imagined. The land cannot be utterly destroyed and neither can the coal and iron mines. But it is safe to say that about one-tenth of all the wealth of France has been destroyed by the war, or at least $6,500,000,000.

The states and cities of Germany have raised and spent over seven billions on their own account since the war broke out, and the total debt of Germany, including the empire, the states and the cities, is about twice that of Great Britain, while the wealth of the two nations on the day war was declared was 90 billion dollars.

France has, of course, suffered most heavily, for in addition to a total bonded and floating debt of fully 20 billion, she has a total wealth of not more than 26 billion to pay with, but her credit, owing to the resourcefulness of her people, is still good, whereas that of Austria is gone.

Out of all, so far, only two nations are admittedly bankrupt, viz. Turkey and Serbia. The latter will be rejuvenated with American and British money after the war and as for Turkey her fate is on the knees of the gods. The coming year will be by far the most expensive ever recorded in history, and by this time next year bankruptcy may be the part of every one of the European nations with the exception of Great Britain.

As long as Britain holds her African and Asiatic colonies, she cannot go broke, for the simple reason that she also cannot create machinery big enough to spend the resources of these countries. Great Britain and America today control the gold, silver, most of the wheat, all the corn, most of the cotton, all of the diamonds, practically all the live stock, excepting hogs, most of the wool, most of the lumber, the coal, iron, copper, zinc and petroleum of the world. These two nations control the seas and the harbors and also the shipping. No debt that could possibly be created could bankrupt these nations for they could levy upon the world for payment and thus keep the dollars moving about from one part of the world to the other.

A Few Figures About the War

There has just been issued by the British War Cabinet a general survey of the war activities of last year. Some of the astonishing details it makes clear are reduced to a line or so here.

Britain loaned £1,185,000,000 to her Allies up to December, 1917, and £175,000,000 to the Dominions.

The manufacture of beer has been reduced from 26,000,000 barrels to 14,000,000 barrels.

It is estimated that the present system of coal distribution will save the equivalent of 700,000,000 tons being carried a mile.

The War Cabinet held 300 meetings in a year.

There are 7,500,000 men in the British armies.

Only one ship in 200 of convoyed vessels has been lost.

The German submarine has a surface speed up to 18 knots, and a submerged speed of 10 to 11 knots. She carries from 15 to 20 torpedoes; she can travel 100 miles completely submerged; and she can remain under water, sitting on the bottom, up to 48 hours.

The range of a German torpedo is five miles, and the speed 40.

Since the beginning of the war the Admiralty believe that between 40 and 50 per cent of German submarines operating in home waters have been captured, sunk, or otherwise destroyed.

In one month battleship-cruisers and destroyers in home waters steamed more than 1,000,000 miles, while auxiliary patrol services steamed more than 6,000,000 miles.

Great Britain has 7,700 miles of coast line to defend.

The Royal Naval Air Service numbers 46,000 men, 178 air ships and kite balloons, and well over 2,800 seaplanes and aeroplanes. These figures are constantly increasing.

In one week the aircraft patrol round the British Isles flies 30,000 miles.

Of 13,000,000 men transported Overseas, only about 1,500 have been lost.

Up to August 255,000,000 tons of explosives and army supplies and 51,000,000 tons of coal and oil had been shipped Overseas.

More than 17,000 women are employed as military nurses and 28,000 others are employed in various work at military hospitals.

Over 7,000 men and 30,000 tons of supplies are sent daily to France.

About 567 steamers are continually supplied in carrying troops and army supplies.

There are 420,000 men in the navy. During 1917 we took on all fronts 115,000 prisoners and 781 guns.

Military hospitals in the United Kingdom number 2,000.

In the brightest moonlight it is impossible to see an aeroplane flying at 10,000 to 15,000 feet.

There are 2,022,000 men and 704,000 women engaged on munitions in the British Isles.

Since the beginning of 1917 the output of high explosives has more than met our own demands, enabled us to build up large stocks, and supply our Allies.

Some 9,000 tractors and tractor-ploughs have been ordered in America.

The number of articles handled each week by the central stores branch of the Ministry of Munitions exceeds 50,000,000.

If we had paid the same price for gun ammunition in 1917 as in 1916, the increase in cost would have been $43,000,000.

Excluding officers, non-commissioned officers, and privates, there are in England some 30,000 enemy prisoners, all but 400 of whom are at work.

The Passing of Rosse's Pig

Tuesday was the dawn of a blue day in the history of the hog-raising industry in the Crows' Nest Pass, for on that evening the city fathers of Blairmore met in camera to decide on the fate of a great porker that had been wallowing in the mire near the residence of Councillor Rosse for the past many a day, contrary to a by-law of the town which was adopted without the dissenting voice of Councillor Rosse as an administrator of municipal affairs.

This animal has been the subject of many a discourse, and no dictionary could contain all the language used by parties who have had occasion to be discomfited by the presence of Rosse's pig. Even a few weeks ago, an eminent Japanese orator made reference to it from the pulpit of Central Union church, when in rather modified terms he referred to the "hunks that the swine did eat." Dr. Minakuchi may not have met Rosse's pig, but he evidently met another who told him that such an animal had encroached upon the sacred soil of our beautiful town.

At a special meeting of the council on Tuesday evening it was decided to take definite and drastic action. The following day was set as the day of execution. Councillor Rosse, the owner, protested at the council's stand in language befitting his client, and claimed that in times of war when there was such a demand for production and thrift that people should be permitted to grow other hogs, even in the municipality. Despite his waxed eloquence, however, it was willed that the keeping of pigs within the limits of the town should not be tolerated in the interests of public health, especially while ample opportunities for such enterprise were offered, not so far from the community, as to make it probable that "thieves might break through and steal."

Wednesday was the day of execution. On towards 8 p.m. a weary pilgrimage was seen wending its way towards the western horizon, where the gallows had been prepared. Parties were armed with all the weapons and devices known to the law and great was the interest manifested in the grim fate of the condemned. Unlike the ordinary military funeral, the volley in this case was necessary to kill the pig and the horse was required to carry away the remains for further service on earth. Demons were loosed from his shackles and lent fury to the butchering operations. Profiteers were on hand in scores, all bidding for the flesh of the unfortunate; but Rosse would not sell. Letters of sympathy have been received by Rosse, as well as expressions of joy from people in the Rosse neighborhood.

There are other pigs in town which should be dealt with and measures taken to rigidly enforce the town's by-laws in this respect, we fear that people will be compelled to take the law in their own hands for the preservation of the health of the community.

Canadian casualties have averaged close to seven hundred a day for the past ten days.

Lois Weber's New Star

Lois Weber has completed a companion picture to "The Price of a Good Time." Under the title of "The Doctor and the Woman," this new Jewel production will be shown at the Blairmore Opera House, on Labor Day, September 2nd.

"The Doctor and the Woman" is the photoplay adaptation of Mary Roberts Rinehart's popular novel "K." Originally published in McClure's Magazine, the demand for it to appear in book form eventually caused it to run through several editions.

Always seeking for screen material, Lois Weber is said to have had her attention called to "K," with the result that arrangements for its picturization were immediately effected. As a moving picture drama, it is confidently stated by Jewel Productions, Inc., that its popularity will exceed that of its immediate predecessor, "The Price of a Good Time."

Mildred Harris, the dainty little star who enacted the principle role in the latter production, again assumes the stellar part in "The Doctor and the Woman." With her appears True Boardman, whose work in recent serials showing him as a gentlemanly highwayman, has made him one of the really popular film stars.

As Sidney Page, the girl who figures so importantly in the redemption of the doctor who attempts to hide himself from all his friends as the result of disgrace, Miss Harris has an exceptional opportunity to show her histrionic ability. Boardman appears as "K. LeMoine," the doctor, and his versatility in portraying this character is sure to win him additional friends.

Lowery Claims That:

The Scotch did not discover haggis or the bagpipes. Both these instruments of torture were brought to Scotland by Italians, when the Romans sent soldiers into the Highlands to subdue the savages in those early days. It is reported, although we can as yet find no verification in ancient history, that the kilts and Scotch whiskeys were introduced to Scotland by a bunch of female impersonators from Donegal. There is little doubt but what Sandy invented the Sawbath, the hawbee, and parrot.

It is customary with the people of every nation when by law, to attend church and invoke Divine blessings upon their side of the fight. Apparently God is deaf or has no telephone, because there is not a single record in the history of this benighted universe where He stopped a war. Prayer is grand, self-satisfying to a great many people. It consoles us when we are bowed down with sorrow, caused by the wrong living of ourselves or others, but it will not win a war, unless backed with the strongest force, the greatest brains, and the most food. Therefore, pray all the time, but never take your eye off the enemy, nor permit your gun to take a holiday. The laws of the universe are order and action, and nothing succeeds like success. God helps those who help themselves. Remember this in your prayers and keep on doing your bit. God means the good, and evil is a phantom of the flesh that disappears when exposed long enough to the rays of love, justice, mercy, honesty, and freedom. The flesh dies but the spirit is eternal. That is the reason why we win the war, and benefit the masses of the German people as much as ourselves. We are fighting to kill the flesh plants of lust, greed, fear, envy and hatred, that have obsessed the German nation through the influence of its rulers. These things must be annihilated before a respite can come to this earth.

Ten Commandments For Present Day Wives

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2.—"How to Hold a Husband" is condensed into 10 commandments for modern women by Rev. P. R. Knickerbocker, who recently gave Los Angeles women the benefit of his experience in this decalogue:

1. Thou shalt have no other man except thy husband; neither shalt thou eye another.
2. Thou shalt not neglect thy house for a large sale, or club or suffragette propaganda.
3. Thou shalt not be a peach on the street, a pippin in society, and a lemon in the house.
4. Thou shalt not wear $50 bonnets and imported lingerie when thy husband wears 5c socks and hand-me-down trousers.
5. Thou shalt not play bridge twice for gain, neither shalt thou sip the sparkling glass.
6. Thou shalt use the same blandishments on thy husband as thou didst use on thy sweetheart, and he shall always be thy lover.
7. Thou shalt not nag thy husband, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy servant.
8. Thou shalt suffer little children to come, for thy greatest pleasure is Mother.
9. Thou shalt not neglect to pray for thy children; neither shalt thou neglect to spank them.
10. Thou shalt not rear thy children by proxy, but thou thyself shalt be their mother.

Nature Draws Perfect Likeness of Kaiser Bill

One of the most peculiar freaks of nature that has been seen in Wichita, Kan., was noticed in north Maple Grove cemetery. On the face of a large monument of Quincy granite was an incredibly natural likeness of the face of the Kaiser. Sloping forehead, eyes, nose, lips and chin and upturned moustache, are so formed on the surface of the stone as to appear to be a very picture of Emperor Wilhelm. It was first noticed during a funeral in Maple Grove cemetery and many persons saw it. It is visible almost from the street. The explanation offered by men who are familiar with stone is that the likeness is a discoloration on the face of the monument, and that it is caused by the "sap" of the stone coming to the surface. Some knot must have existed in the rock to make it do this, they think. Sap in stone is something of the same as sap in wood, and the "knot" was so placed in this particular block of granite as to bring out a startling likeness of the world despised German Emperor.

Publicity and the Meat Industry

The Light Is Now to Be Turned

The president's proclamation requiring owners of stockyards and live stock commission men to take out licenses under direction of the secretary of agriculture, is presumably a step toward compelling full publicity in the whole meat industry. To take over the industry for government management would involve endless complications and difficulties without giving more play to the relative forces of publicity than the license system now adopted. And publicity is the only thing, neither speculation nor manipulation of the markets nor extortion or profiteering can possibly bring about in the country's meat supply except in the dark. The light is now to be turned on.—From the New York World.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

No season of the year is so dangerous to the life of little ones as the summer. The excessive heat, the little stomach out of order so quickly that almost prompt aid is at hand, the baby may be kept from human help before the mother really knows he is ill. Summer is the season when diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and other troubles are most prevalent. Any of these troubles may prove deadly if not promptly treated. During the summer the mother's best friend is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels, soothe the stomach and keep baby healthy. The tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Commenting on the denaturalizing of a German-born man in Passaic County, New Jersey, who had frequently expressed the hope that Germany will win, the New York Herald says:

"The principle established is of large importance. There are abroad on this land persons far more dangerous than those who have been deported, who they obtained citizenship papers with the same mental reservation as the same kind of fraud (for allegiance to the country of his birth). If American citizenship is to be secured, the protection of the principle of the courts' decision without delay."

Gentlemen,—I was badly kicked by my horse last May, and after using several preparations on my leg nothing would do. My leg was black as jet. I was laid up in bed for a fortnight and could not walk. In England They are Compelling Germans to Discard Their English Aliases

The widespread suspicion of aliens in Great Britain, which recently forced the government to pursue a more drastic policy of dealing with them, is periodically renewed by relations which tend to support the theory of the extremists that the German can be trusted. Take the Jonas Vernon case of espionage, now engaging the attention of the English courts. Sir Joseph Jonas, born in Germany, had lived for most of the 27 years of his life in England where he had attained wealth and distinction as a manufacturer of cutlery at Sheffield; correspondence, captured as the result of a raid, shows that, during the years immediately preceding the war, Jonas was sending confidential reports to Berlin about the rifle works which were then being established by the Vickers company. Assisting Sir Joseph in this business was a clerk residing in the British north of England, Charles Vernon, real name Karl Kahn. Can one wonder that in England they are compelling Germans to discard their English aliases and resume their German names?—Winipeg Free Press.

This French Ace is Nervous

Great Fear Lacks Even the Usual Superstition About Planes

Rene Fonck, the young ace of aces who recently won his forty-ninth official victory, is not at all nervous, but he is a man with perfect nerve, but no trace of nerves. He is a man who has the opportunity to study him closely believe this superb pilot is the secret of his success.

To show how free he is from foibles. Most famous aviators become attached to a favorite machine. When they have won a few victories in it they regard it with affection, even superstition; it is lucky.

By contrast, Fonck has a habit of giving his machine to any youngster who has just won his pilot's commission and who has caught the "great ace" bug.

"Try, my young lad," he will say, "it seems to be all right," and thus sends him to a plane in which he has done two or three victories.

Then he takes the next machine sent to the camp from the factory. Fonck has no set type of machine, and he has the walk and carriage of a skilful boxer. Men of his kind are not easily frightened. Perfectly—indeed, swiftness and accuracy. Besides this he has extraordinary vision. It has happened more than once when he has led a squadron that he has signalled to the other public the approach of an enemy plane, its exact location, the angle from which it should be attacked and all the other things that the others had seen it at all.

It need hardly be added that he is not a nervous man. He is a man of iron nerves. He is a man of iron nerves. He is a man of iron nerves. He is a man of iron nerves.

The Naval Situation

Enemy Has Been Thrown Back on a Policy of Evasion

Drawing to its conclusion his article on "The North Sea and Beyond," the Fortnightly Review, Archibald Hurd writes:

"Before the peace was broken, in the summer of 1914, the majority of the people of these islands were impressed by the double peril of invasion and starvation, through the influence exerted by an enemy's surface ships. How do we stand in those respects? The German navy-of-war, which were thought to menace our island security, does not stir beyond the gun and mine-protection west of Heligoland. The enemy has been thrown back on a policy of evasion, employing the submarine and the mine, and making 'tip-and-run' excursions. Those are considerations which may, perhaps, with advantage, be borne in mind at a moment when, owing to the collapse of Russia, the naval situation has undergone a change calculated to test British nerve."

"Convoy incidents or losses due to submarine action may occur more frequently. The officers of the board of admiralty may be changed, but whatever the reactions from time to time in the personal equation, ashore or afloat, naval war must be fought in accordance with its own principles, and those principles persist, however impatient the public may be. The German navy is always slow, as the twenty years of the Revolutionary and Napoleonic wars remain, and always will be slow, because the weaker enemy possesses, as he has always possessed, the facility of hiding in defended ports, with the initiative at his command, in the meantime resorting to evasive operations, such as raids and attacks on commerce."

"As Admiral Mahan has declared: 'The control of the sea is the key to real, does not imply that an enemy's single ships or small squadrons cannot at any time do serious damage, but will positively remove every hard or soft core of callus from one's back.'"

"If your druggist hasn't stocked this new drug, tell him to get a small bottle of freezone for you from his wholesale drug house."

An Unfortunate Example
A mining expert, one of the witnesses called in an important case, was under cross-examination by a rather young and conceited barrister. The question related to the form that ore was found in.

"Yes," replied Mr. B., "but not as thick." The barrister subjoined after that—"The Argonaut."

Letter "B" on Out Blanks in Scarborough and Markham Townships

Throughout Scarborough and Markham township in Ontario, on every out-bld there is embossed the letter "B" in the corner of the building as to what this stands for and one of the most popular beliefs is that this is the first letter of the word "British" for whom the oats are being grown to win the war.

Some people evidence a superstitious feeling and are expecting great good luck from this sign. It is stated that only once before, and that in 1901, has the phenomenon been observed in this locality and that time it was taken to mean Bora. The year 1901 was the year of the best oat crops in its history. The same phenomenon has been observed in Brant county.

C. P. R. Engine From Moose Jaw Doing Great Work at Amiens

Roland Hill writes from France as follows:

From Moose Jaw to Amiens is a far cry, yet during the German offensive there was an old Canadian Pacific engine which had done its duty in both places. It is still running along these new lines in France and is entitled to a locomotive medal for its services.

During the recent heavy fighting, managed by a Canadian crew, this engine was the only one that consistently good work out. It has been through a narrow tunnel through which many trains had to pass at night. The crew advanced of them and into a much bombed siding, then ran their own train along a line, while the Hun train was being shelled.

Some Canadian railway operating companies have attached to a long-ammunition train which was pushed the engine ahead of them and into a much bombed siding, then ran their own train along a line, while the Hun train was being shelled.

In addressing a Lethbridge audience on Sunday evening last, Dr. Salem G. Bland laid special emphasis on the fact that Canada is destitute of leadership in church and politics, men whose life and character would qualify them to speak high words and stir the people to the best that is in them. Since we have not such men, we should get together ourselves, for Canada is divided in every way, with growing differences. These will become greater after the war if some effort is not made now to overcome them. Thus Canada is at present full of peril. This is our opportunity to put aside selfishness and prefiguring and to think only of the common good. If Canadians cannot produce a leader, then they should get together without one.

It is claimed that a novel contraption basket for churches has been invented by a Minnesota man. A person drops in a quarter or more in the box, there is silence; if it drops a dime in, a bell rings, a nickel sounds a whistle, and penny rings a blank cartridge. One pretends to be asleep when the box is passed; it awakens him with a watchman's rattle, and a knock takes his picture.

Charles Spencer, one of the best known locomotive engineers running on the Canadian Pacific Railway between Vancouver and North Bend, before joining the colors in the outbreak of war is credited with saving the aid of his friends from the French front at bringing it, safe to the British lines with German soldiers looking on, unaware until too late that war was happening. The train was loaded with large caliber shells, other munitions. The adventure was carried out without the knowledge of Spencer's officers, and, according to the story, he received severe reprimand for doing so, shivers without orders, and was given a commission, and now in charge of a whole section of the railway.
